The LEGO® Succulents

Some are prickly and still somehow adorable: Others are plumply and still look so chic. Home design gurus say they can easily perk up any corner of your room. And they are the perfect houseplants that make even a newbie plant parent look like a pro. Meet the LEGO® Succulents.

Succulents make fabulous table centrepieces, can dress up windowsills, and make any space instantly, insta-worthy.

They say having succulents in a room helps you focus, and building this set is likely to give you the same feeling. On the plus side, you don't have to water them!

*Build pot by pot, or group them all together, either way is smile
inducing.*

There's a succulent for everyone

Unlike other plants in the LEGO® Botanical Series, each LEGO Succulent can be built in its own individual little pot, which can be either connected to make a beautiful group of succulents or showcased separately. Instructions to build also come in separate booklets so that family and friends can all enjoy the LEGO building experience together.

From the Design Team

Andy comes from Southern California, where succulent gardens thrive and are known for their beauty. "My friends are all expert keepers of these desert jewels while I, on the other hand, never had such luck. So, being able to pay tribute to my home with this LEGO® set was indeed a dream project. No succulent was harmed in the making of this set!" said Andy, which was a happy first for him.
