

77

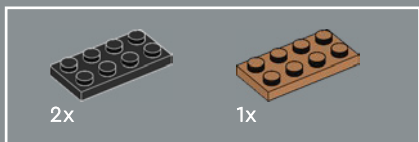

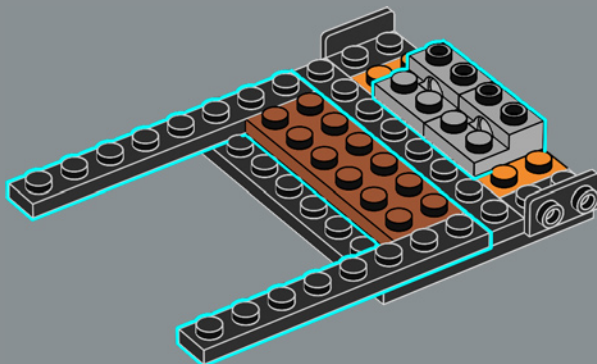

78

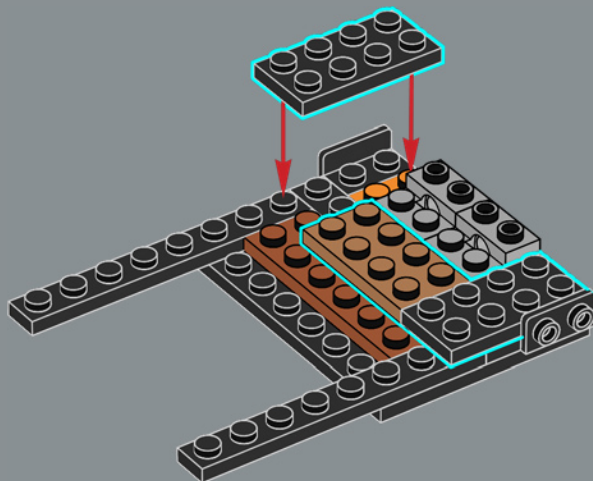

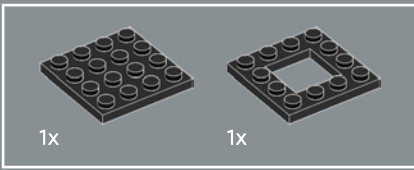

79

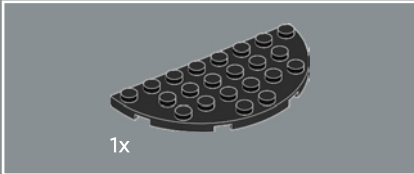

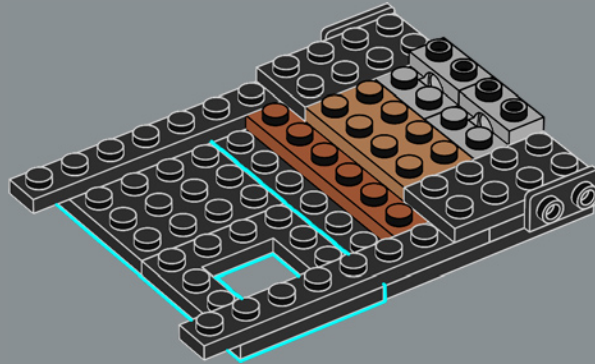

80

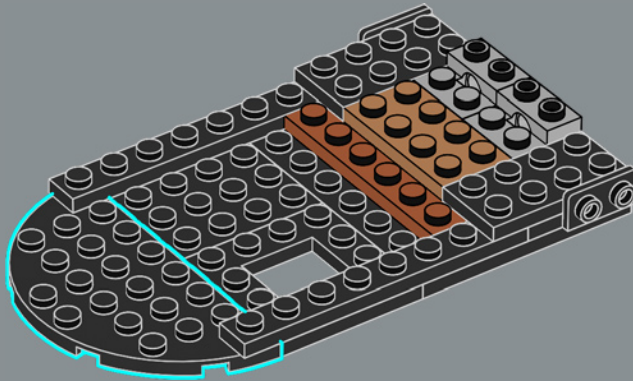

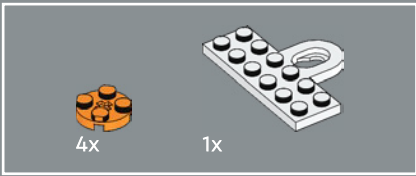

81

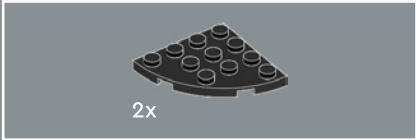

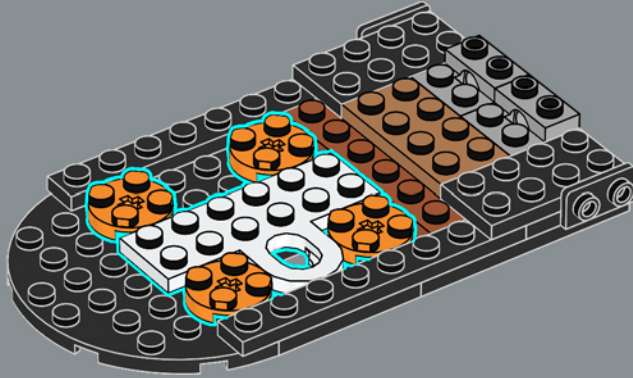

82

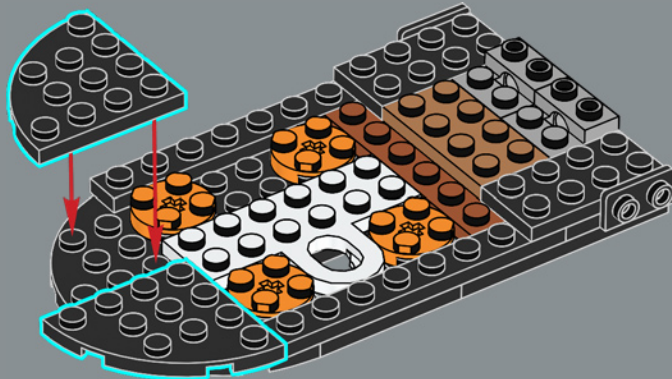

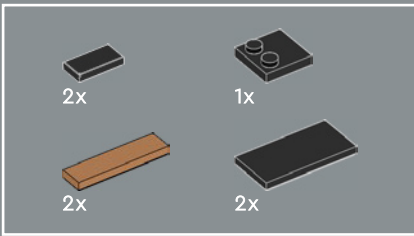

83

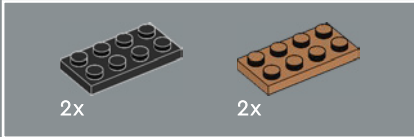

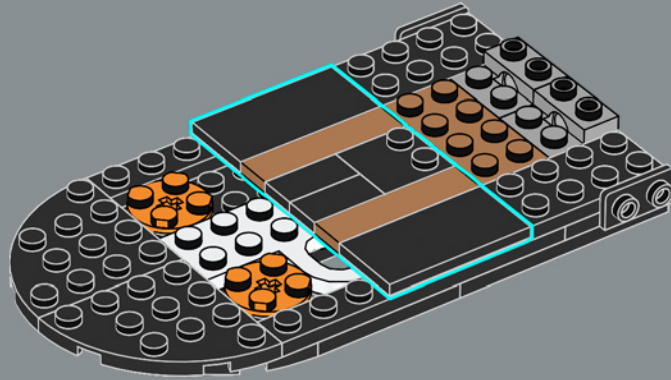

84

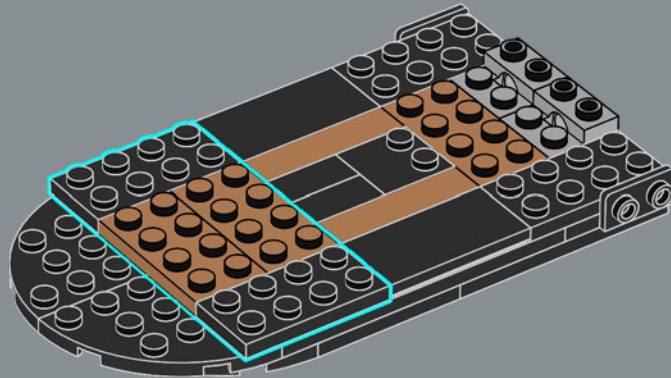

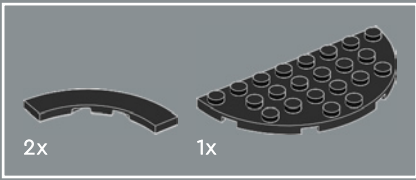

85

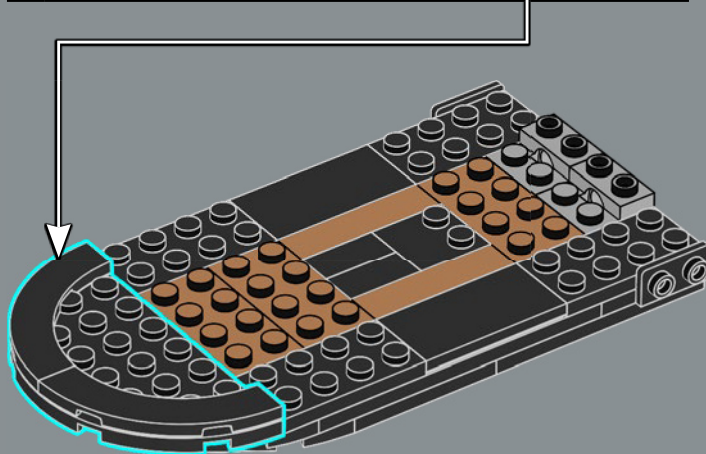

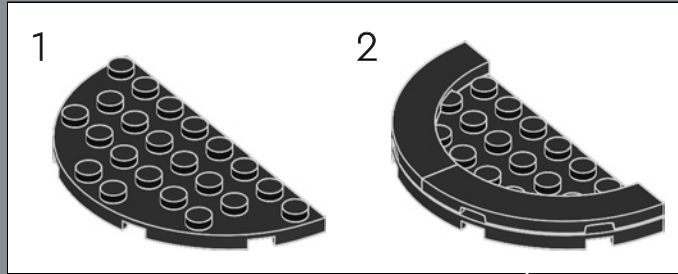

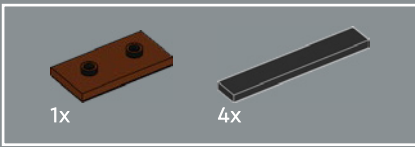

86

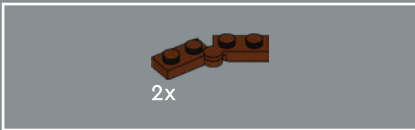

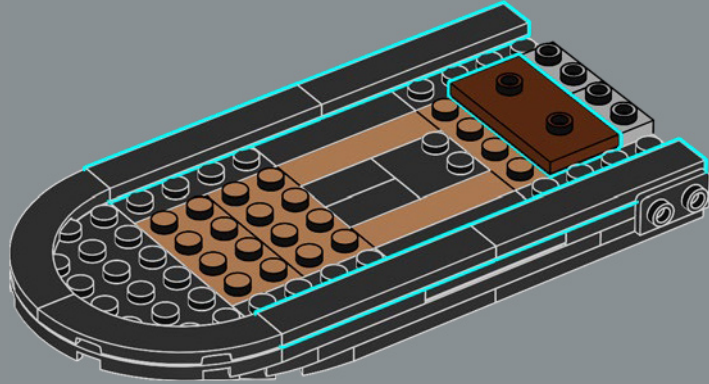

87

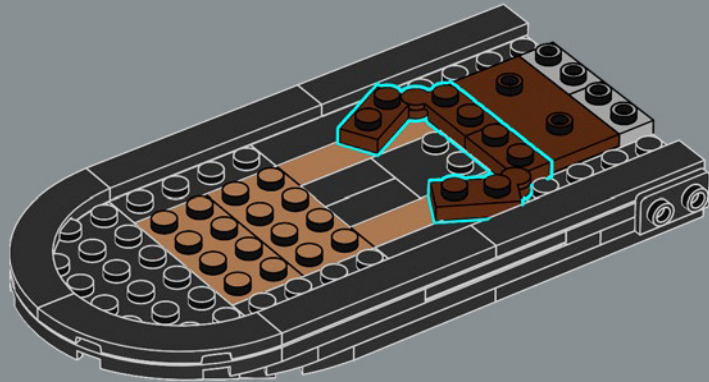

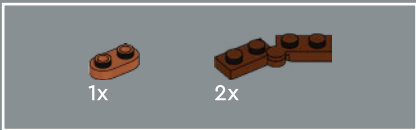

88

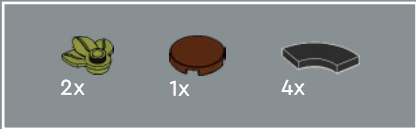

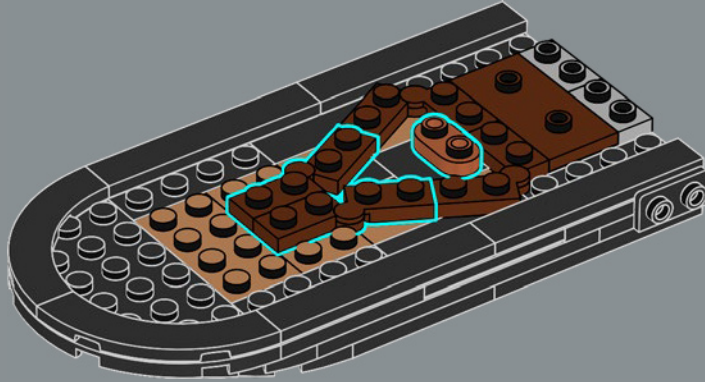

89

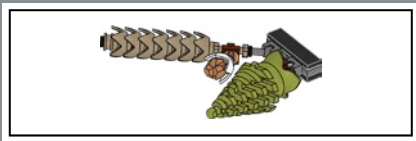

90

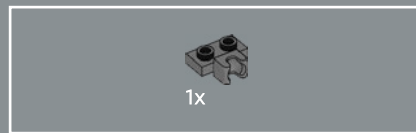

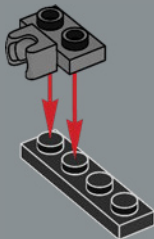

91

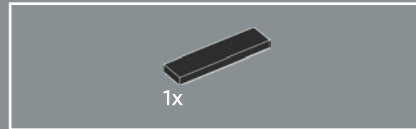

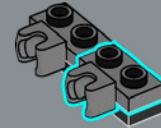

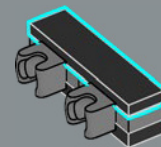

92

93

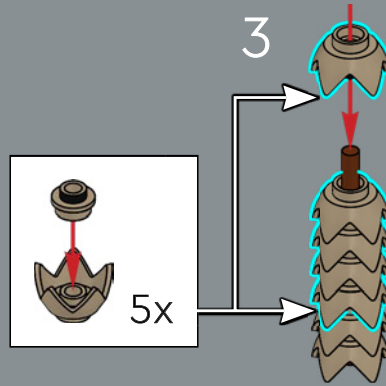

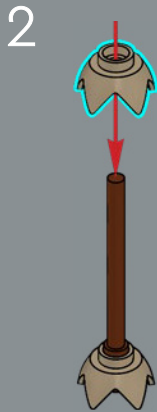

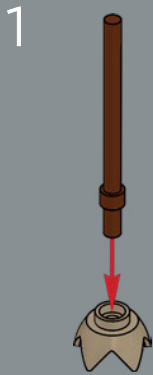

94

95

5

1x

1x

1x

1x

96

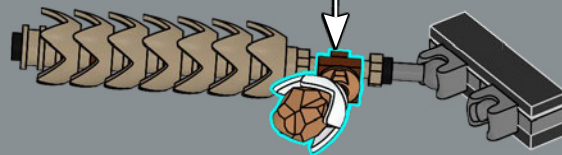

1

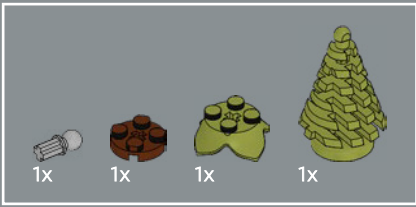

2

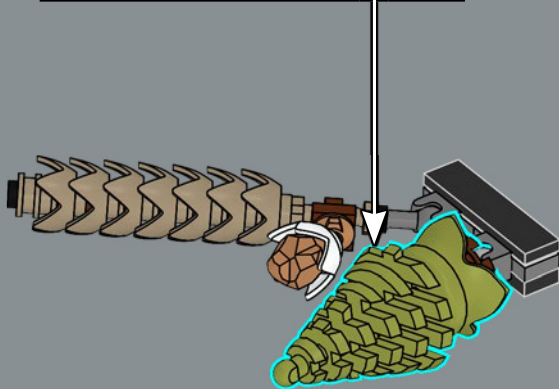

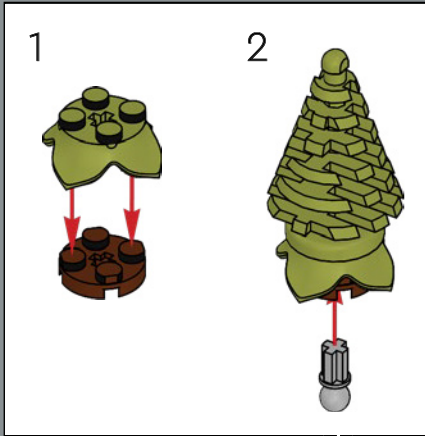

3

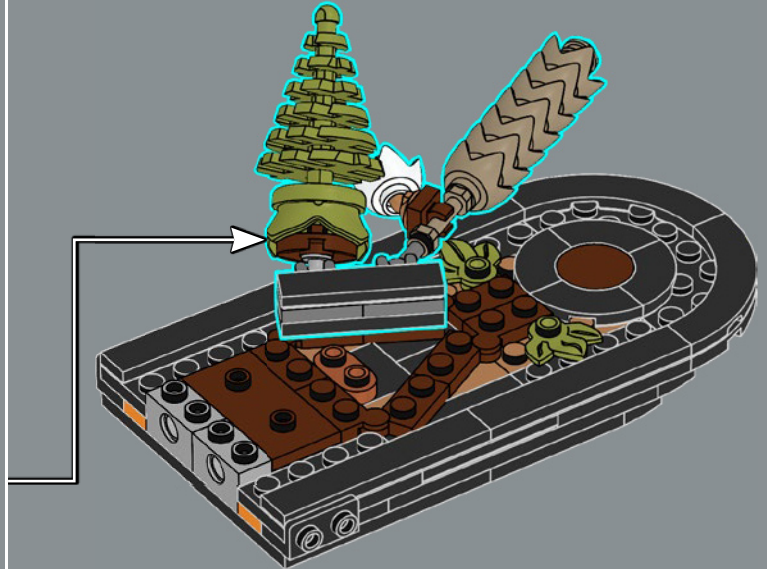

The stalks of wheat use nested crown elements to give the wheat its corrugated appearance.

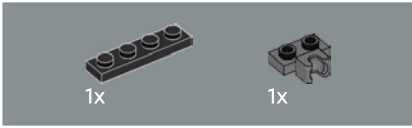

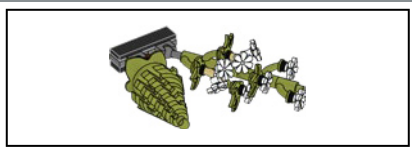

97

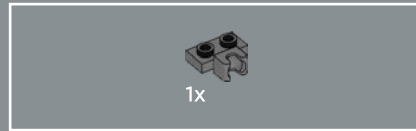

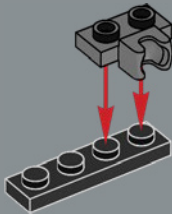

98

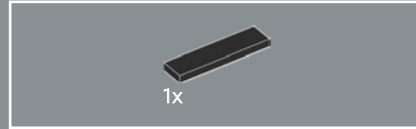

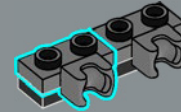

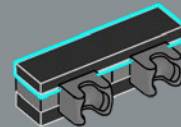

99

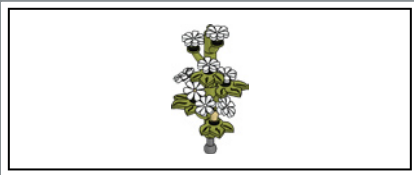

100

101

1x

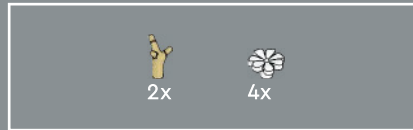

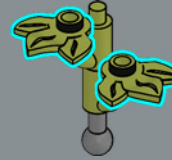

2x

102

2x

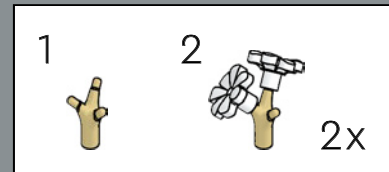

103

2x

4x

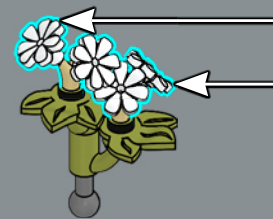

104

1

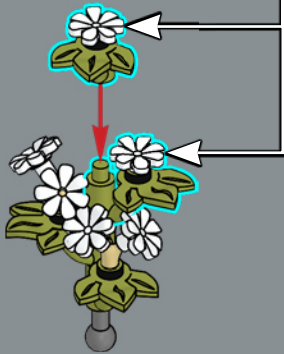

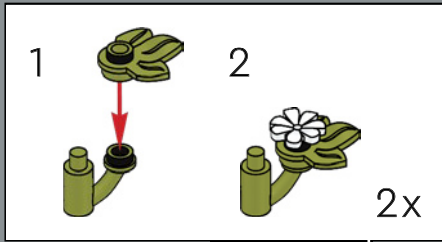

2

2x

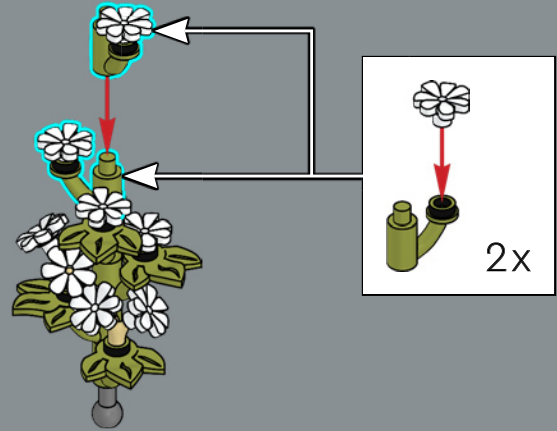

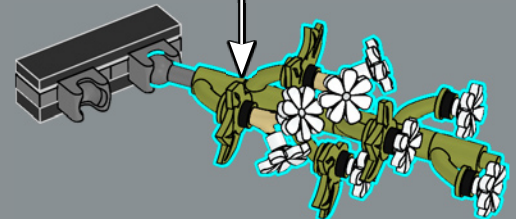

105

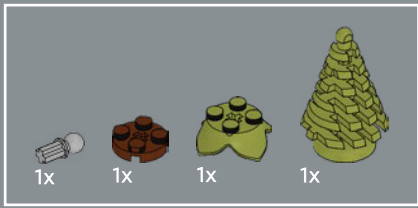

106

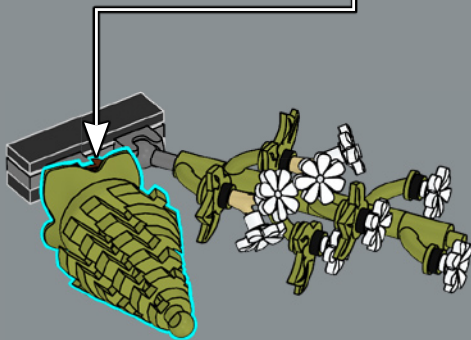

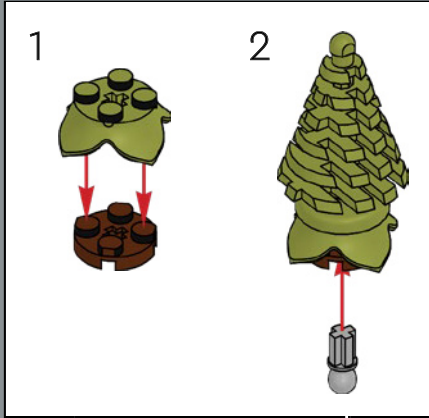

107

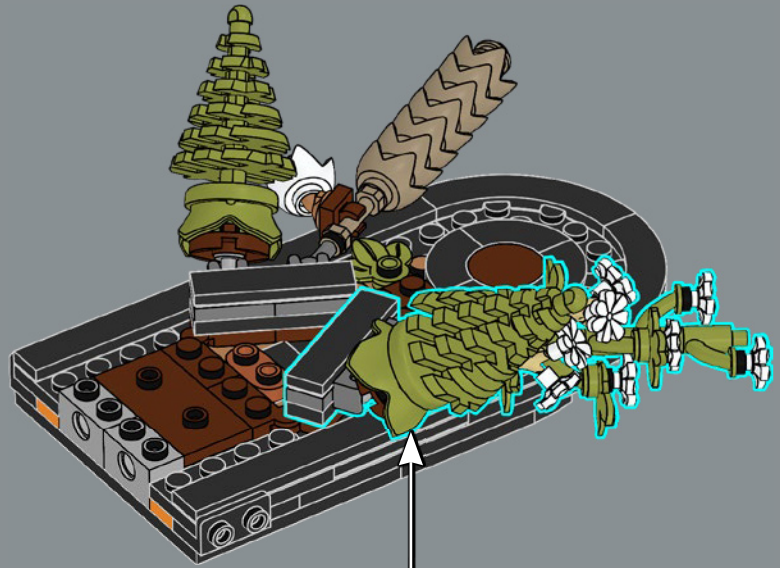

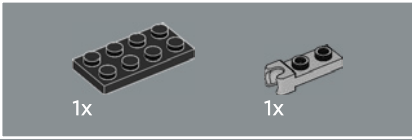

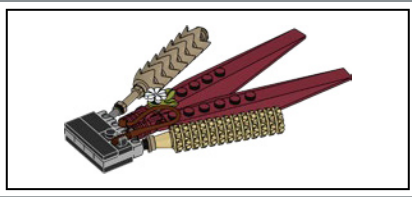

108

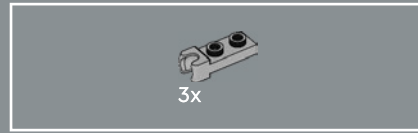

109

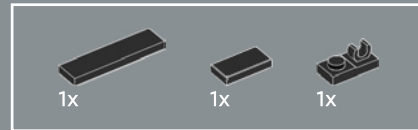

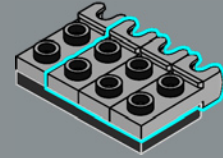

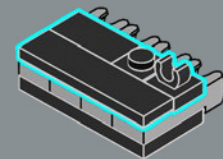

110

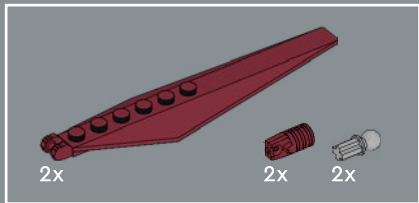

111

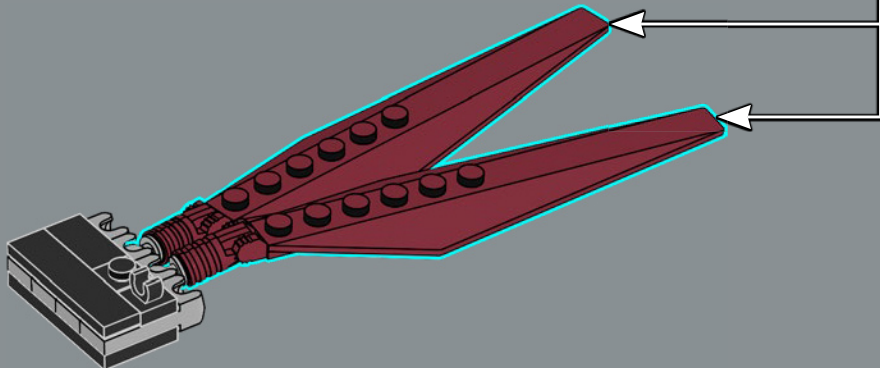

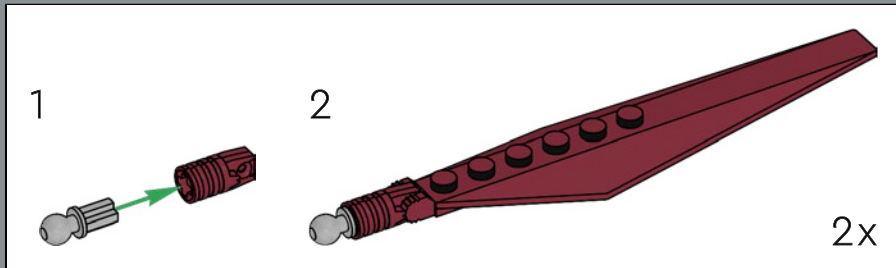

112

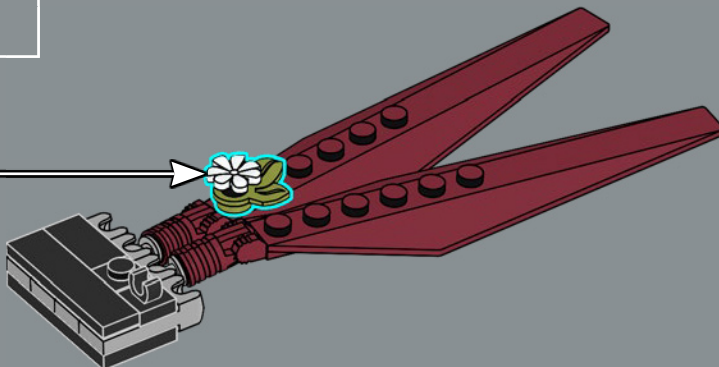

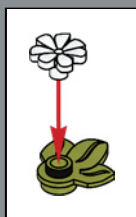

113

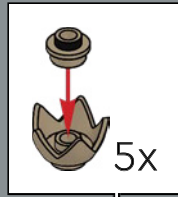

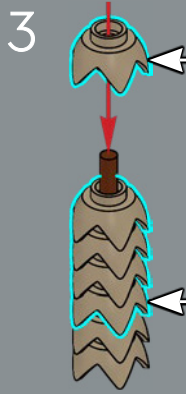

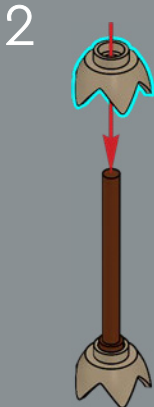

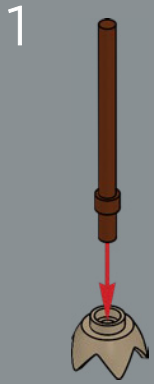

114

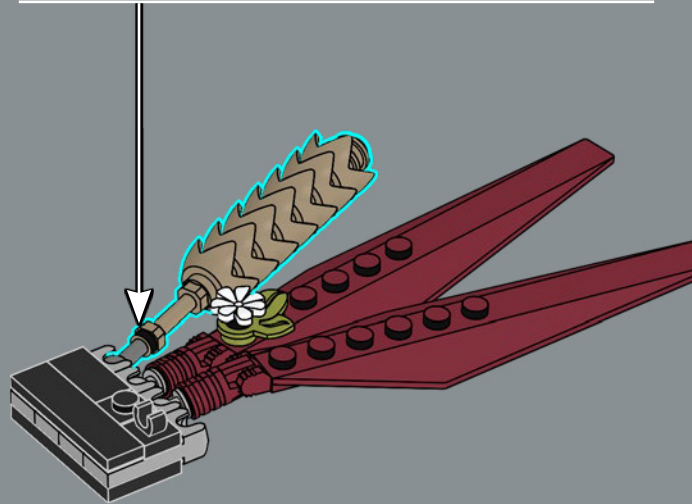

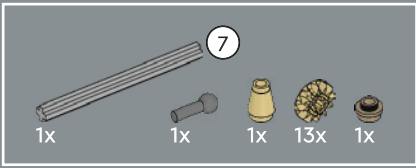

115

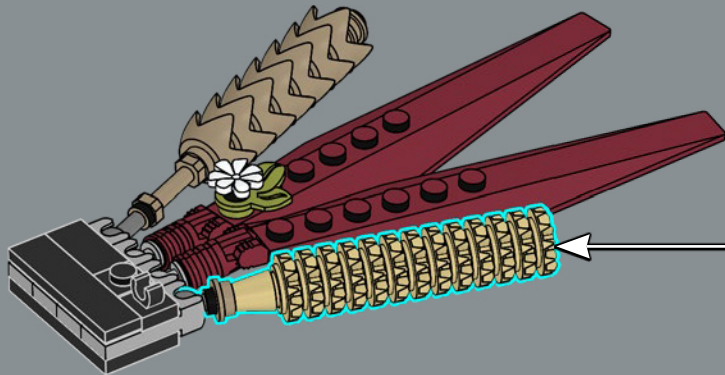

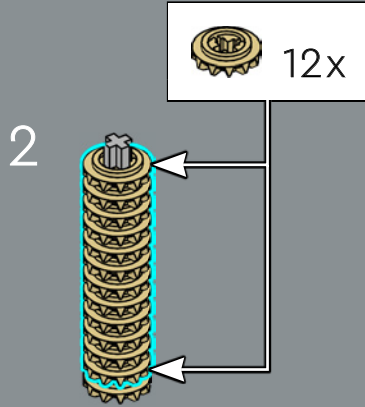

5

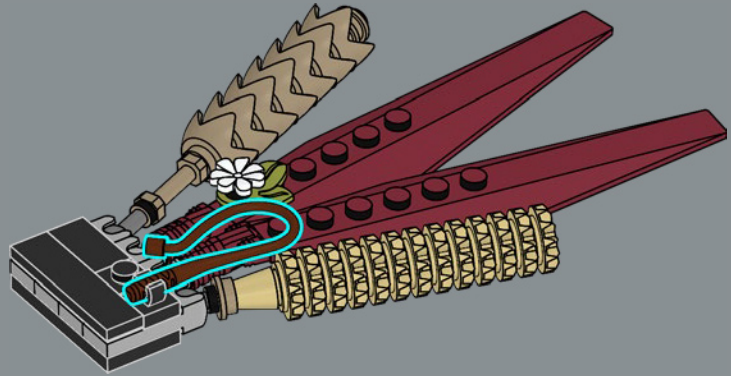

116

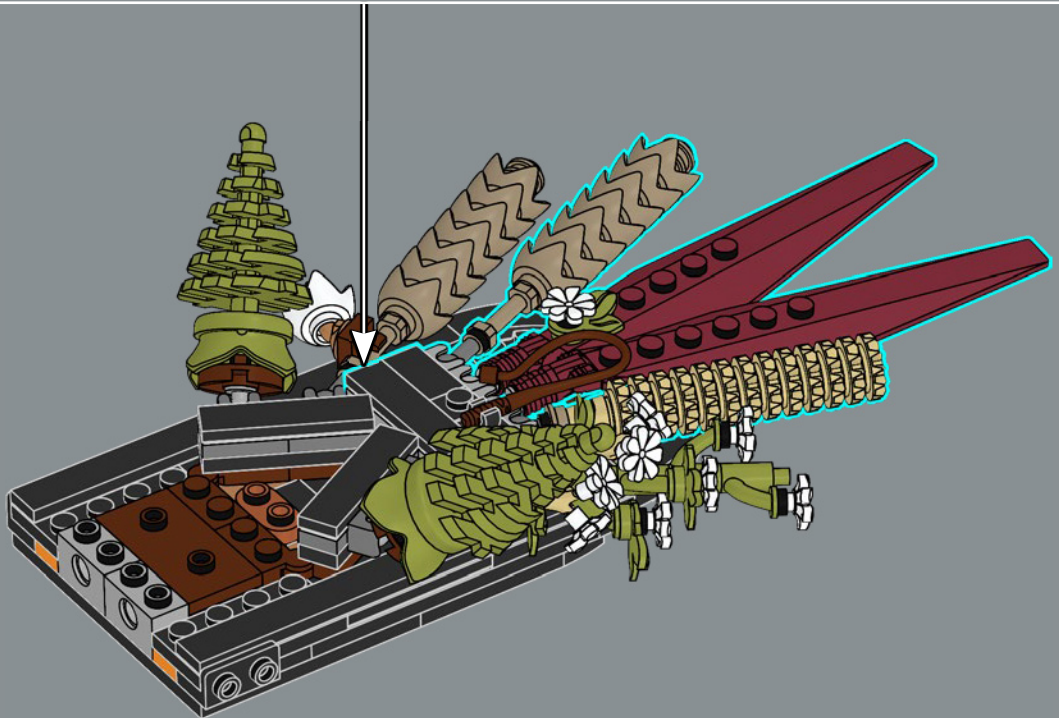

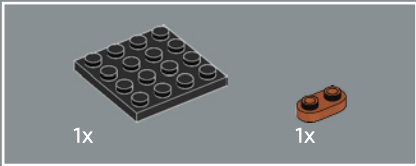

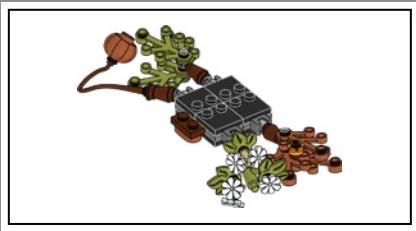

117

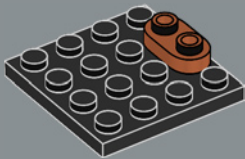

118

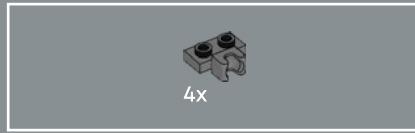

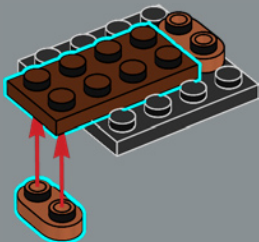

119

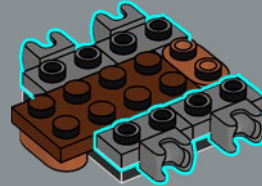

120

121

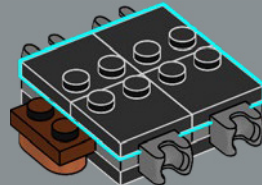

4x

122

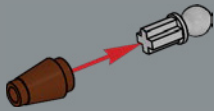

4x

123

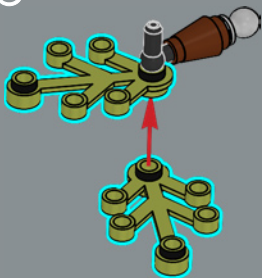

1

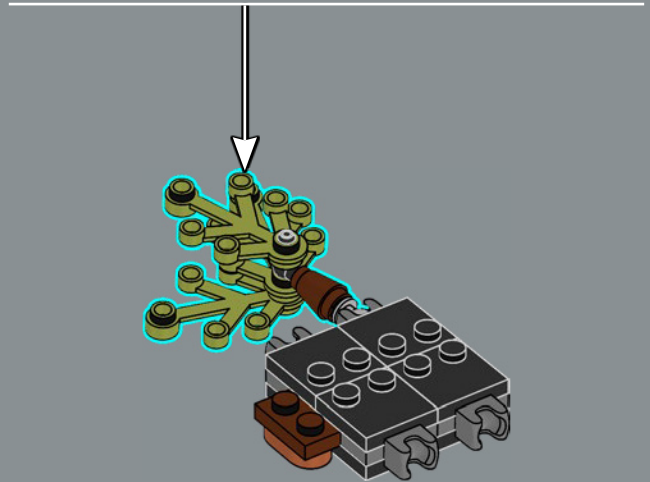

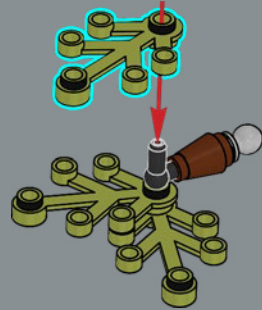

2

3

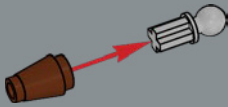

4

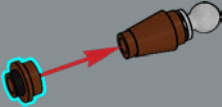

124

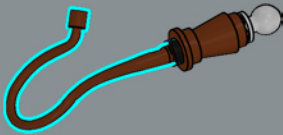

1

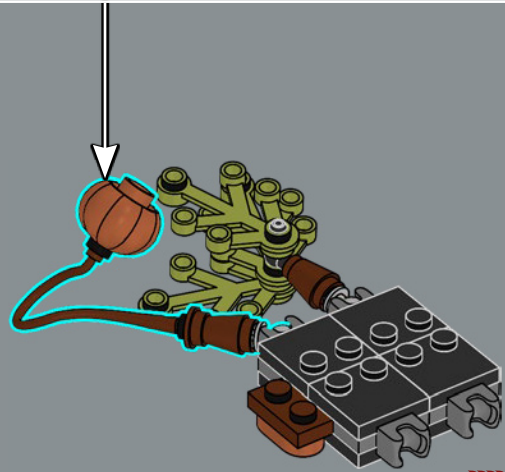

2

3

4

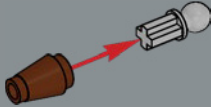

The peculiarly named bladder cherry is built with a LEGO® element that is usually used as vegetables, (like pumpkins or lanterns) and a flexible brown whip element.

125

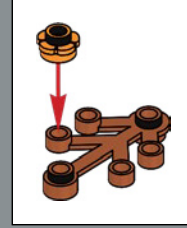

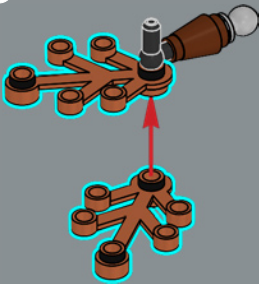

1

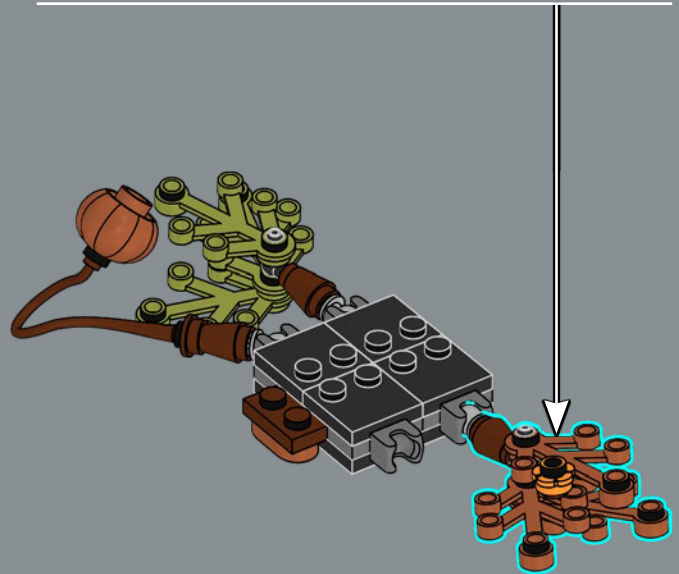

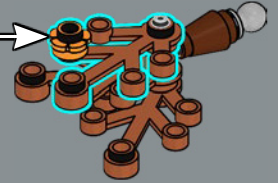

2

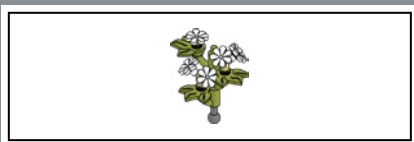

3

4

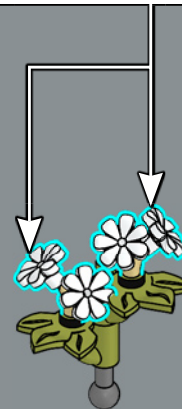

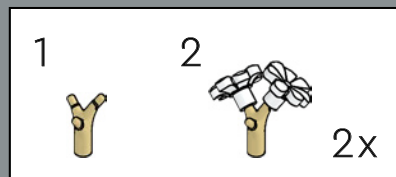

126

127

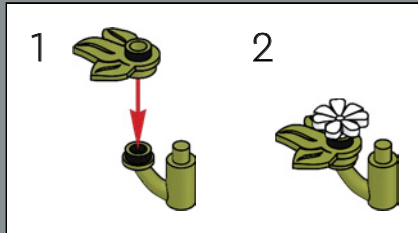

128

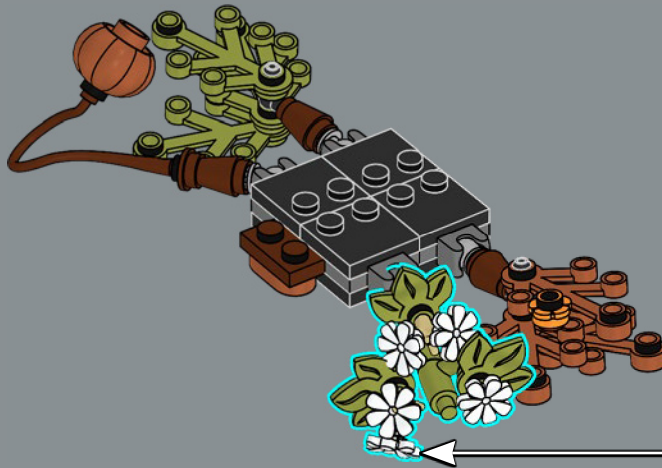

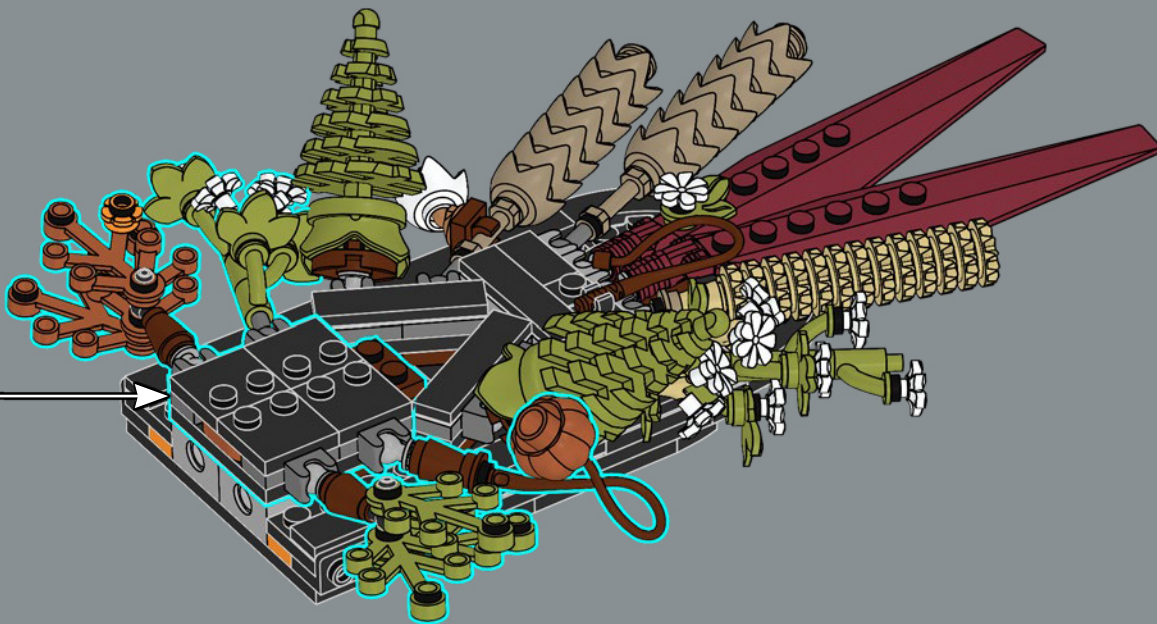

129

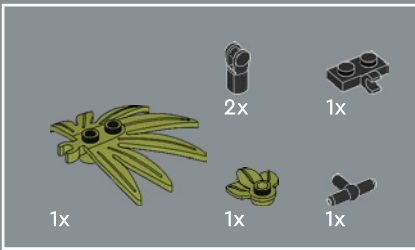

130

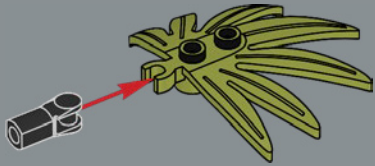

131

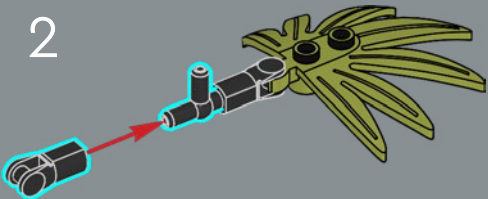

132

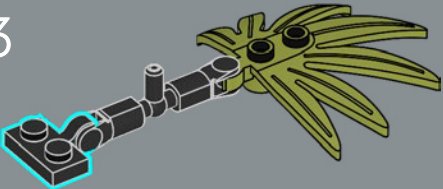

1

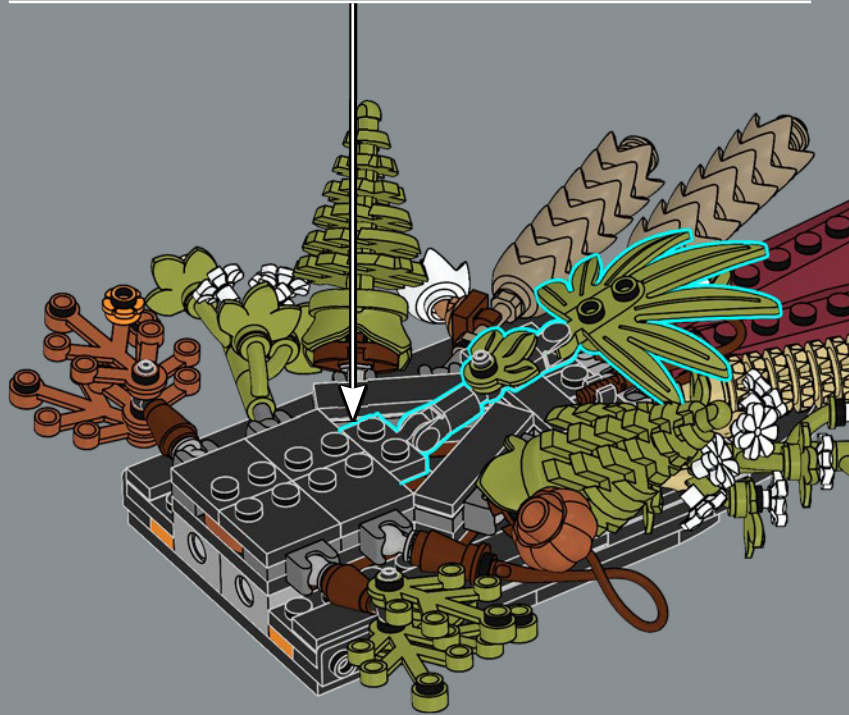

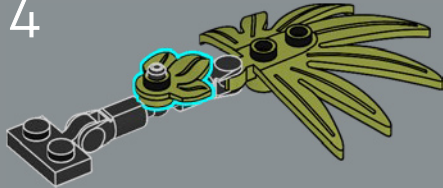

2

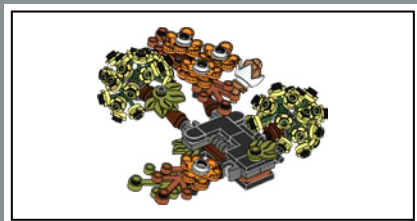

3

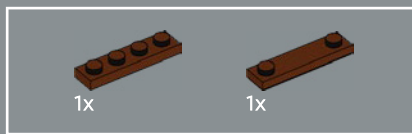

4

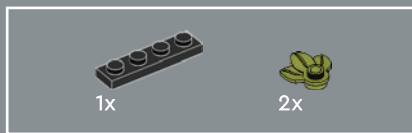

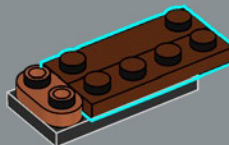

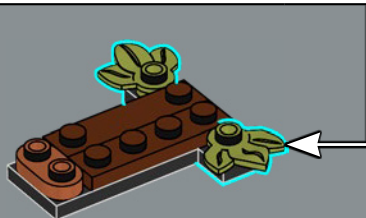

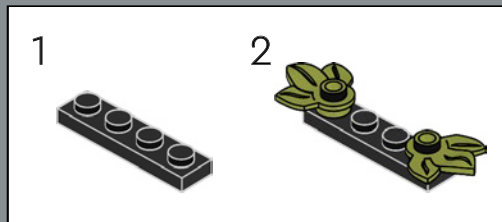

133

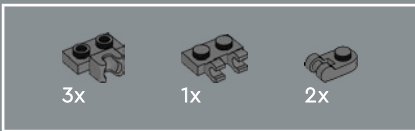

134

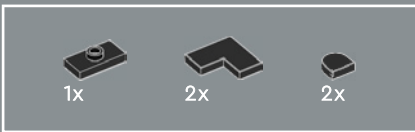

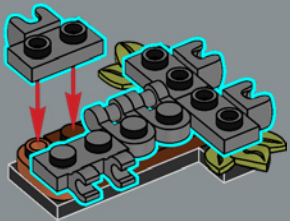

135

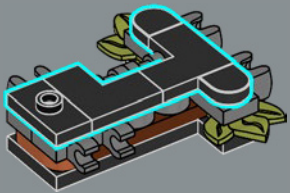

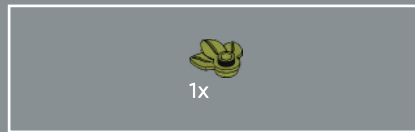

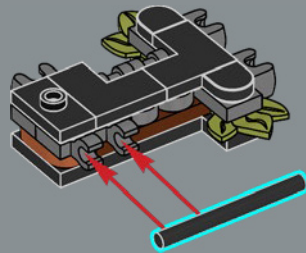

136

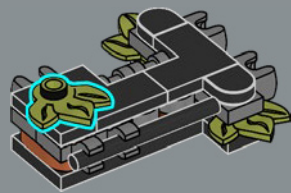

137

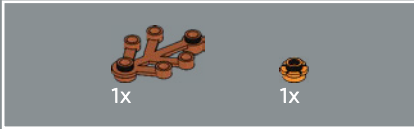

138

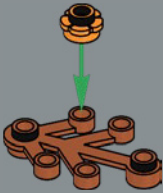

139

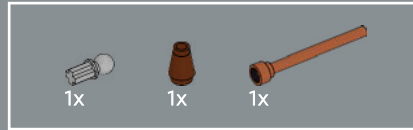

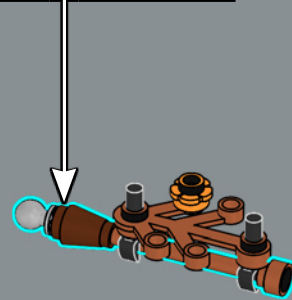

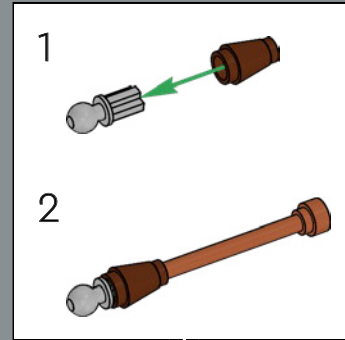

140

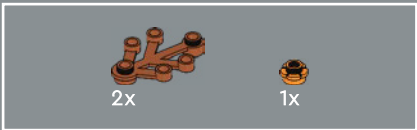

141

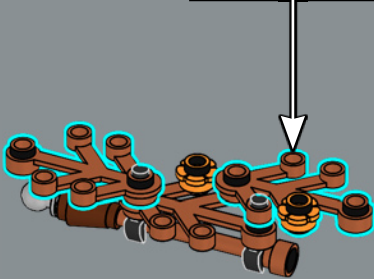

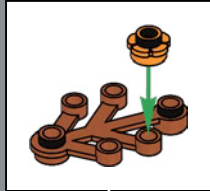

142

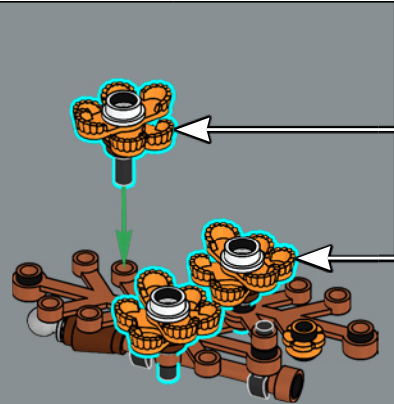

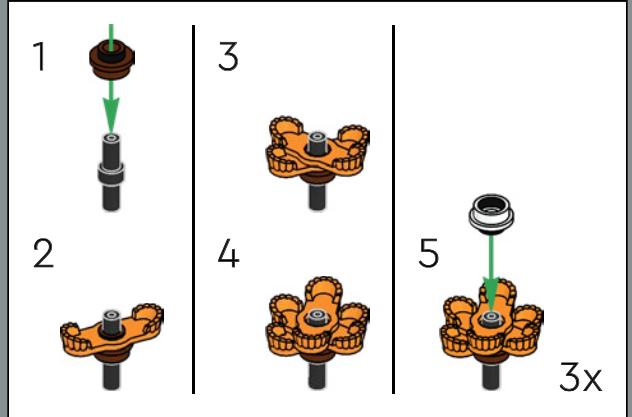

143

144

1x

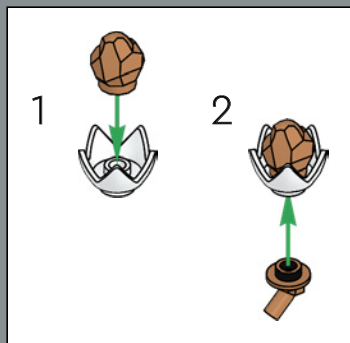

1x

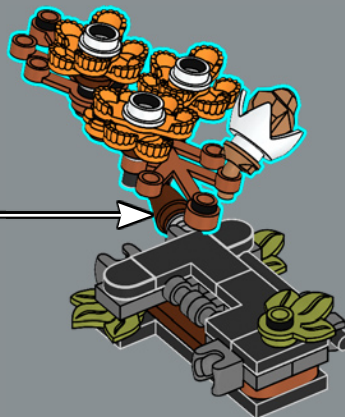

1x

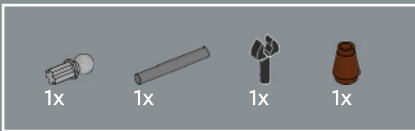

145

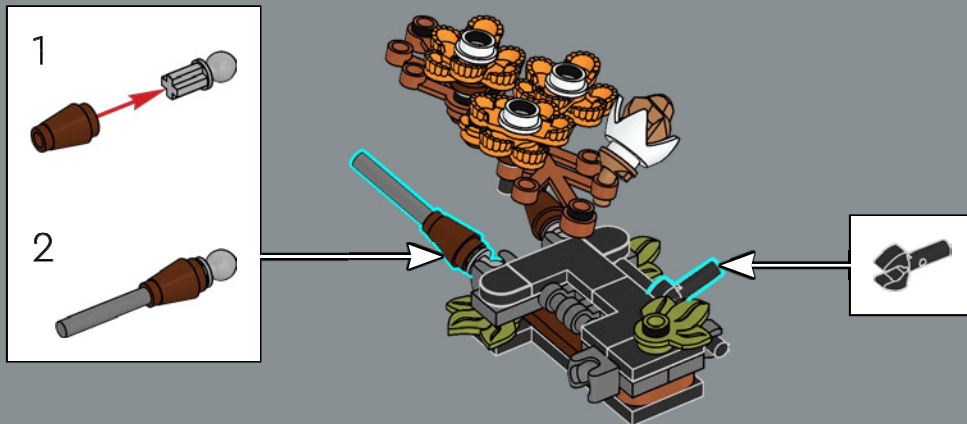

The dried daisy heads are constructed with a white crown element and a rare rock element first used as a gold nugget.

146

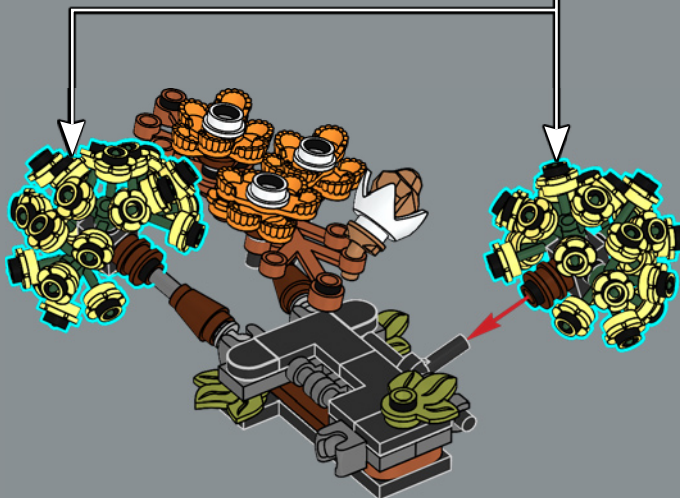

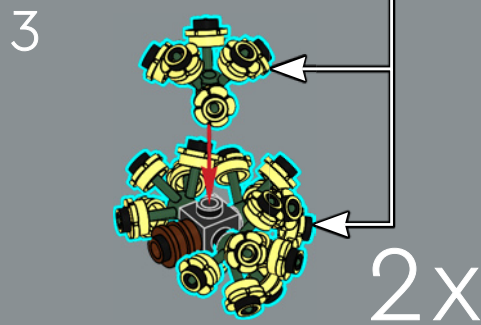

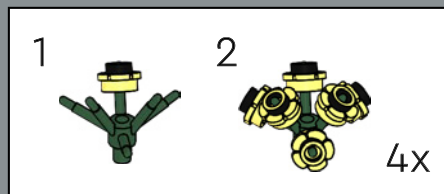

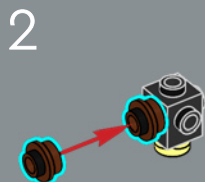

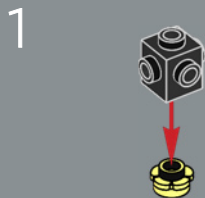

147

148

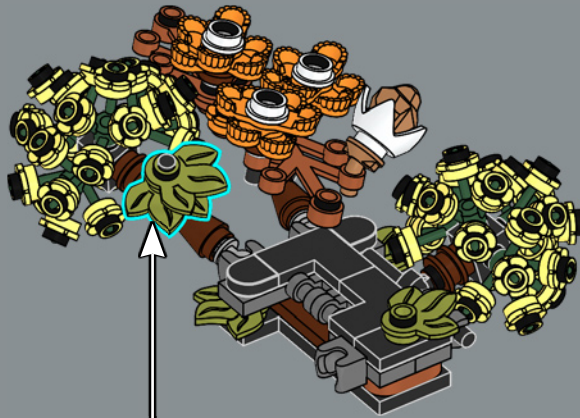

1x

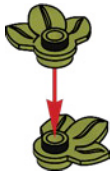

2x

149

1

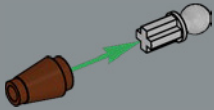

2

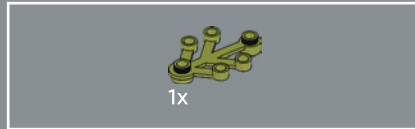

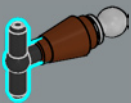

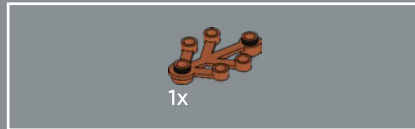

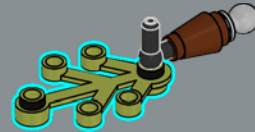

150

151

152

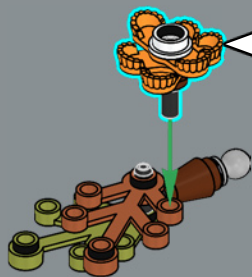

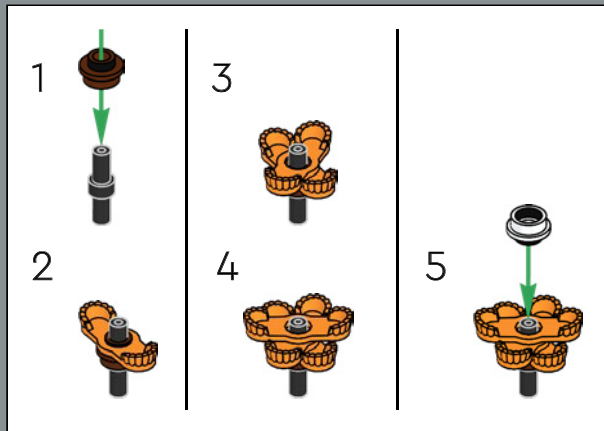

153

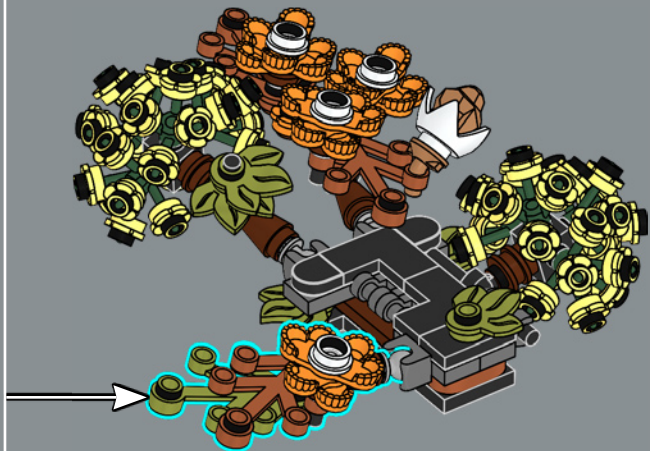

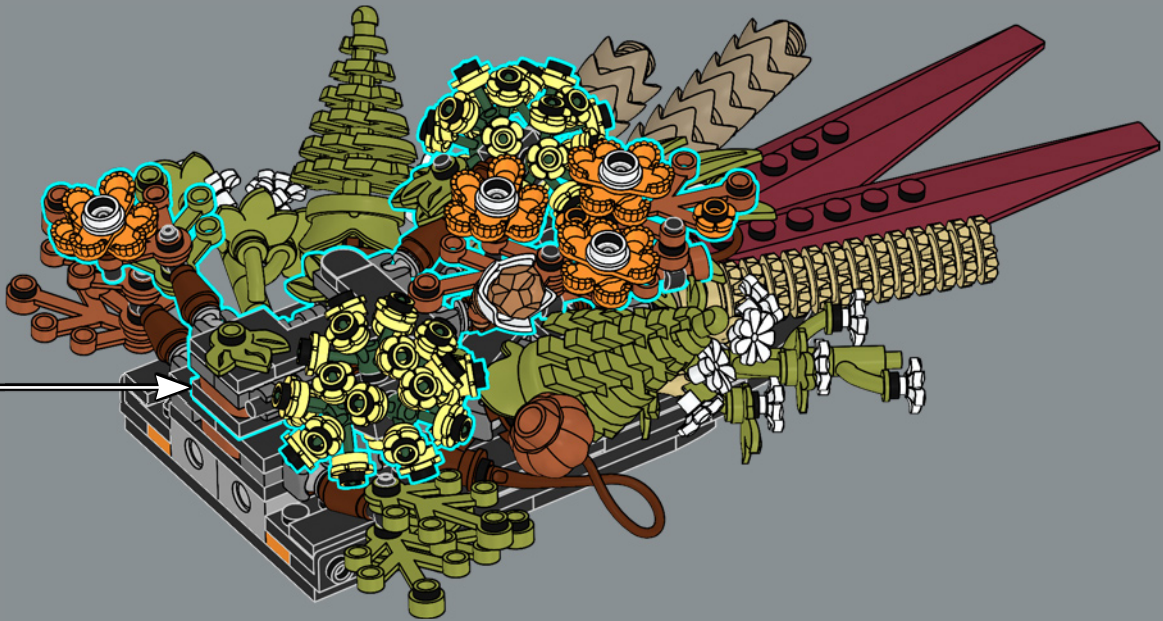

154

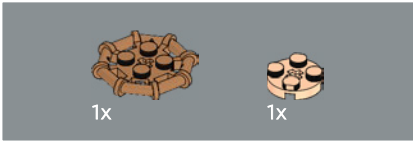

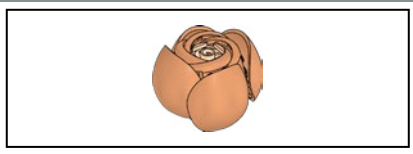

155

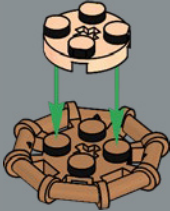

156

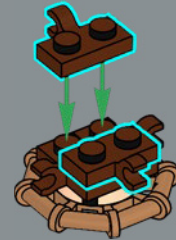

157

158

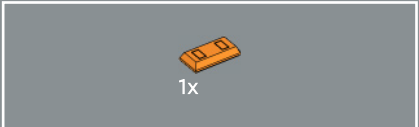

159

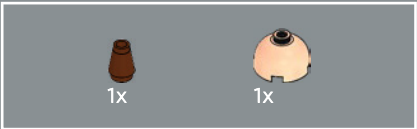

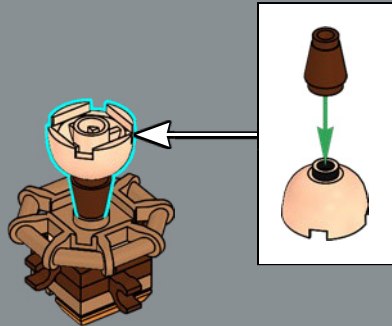

160

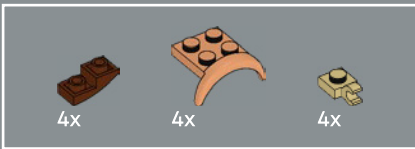

161

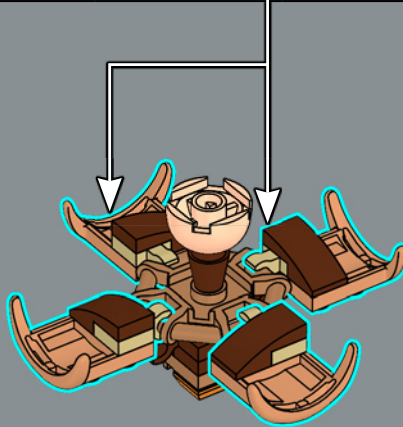

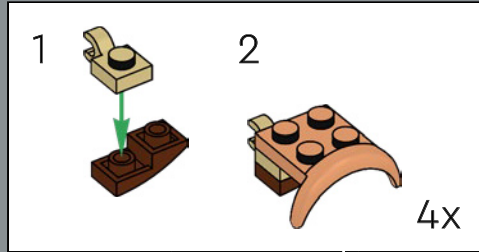

162

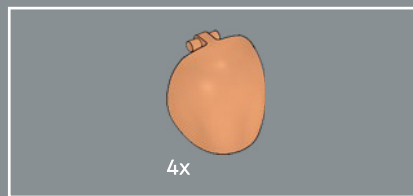

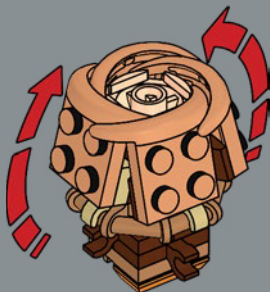

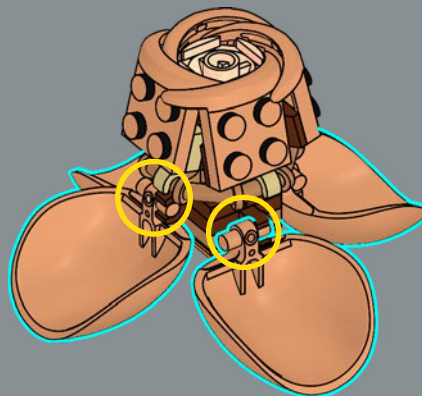

163

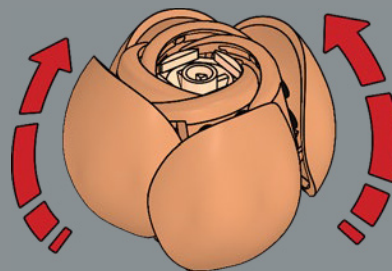

164

165

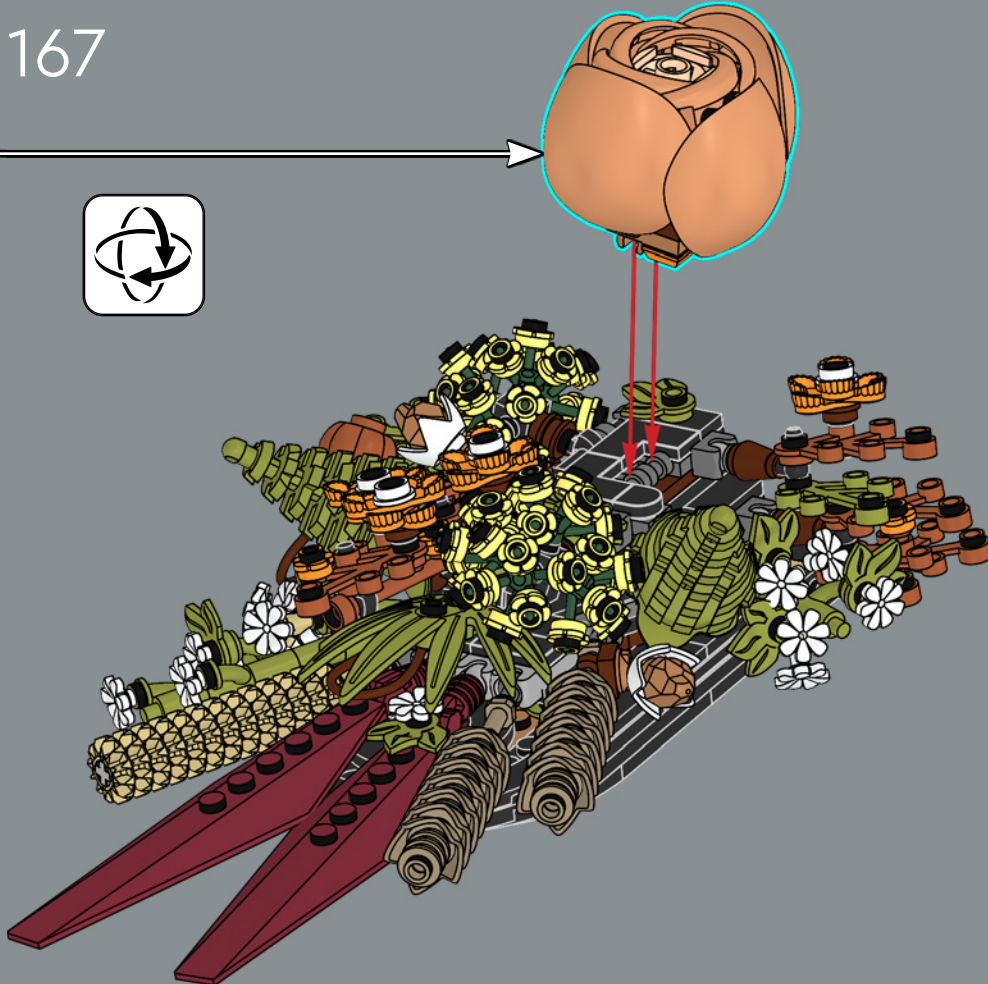

166

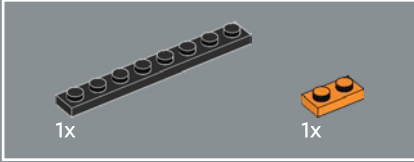

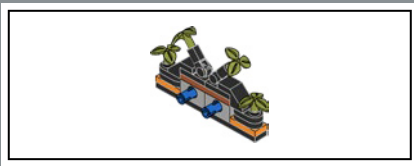

The intricate rose construction uses new mud guard elements for the inner petals and a new shell element for the outer petals.

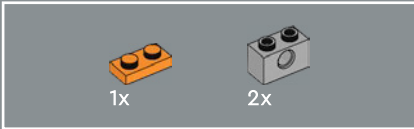

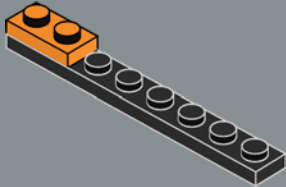

167

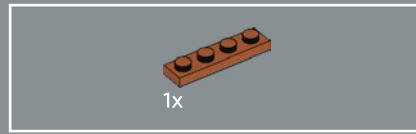

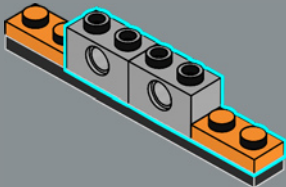

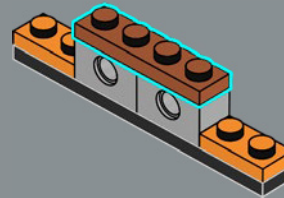

168

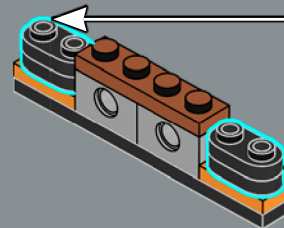

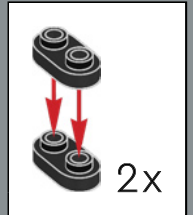

169

170

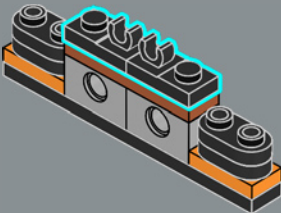

171

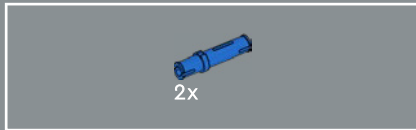

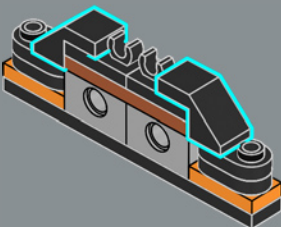

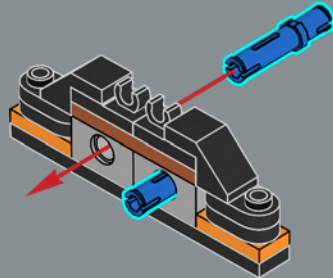

172

173

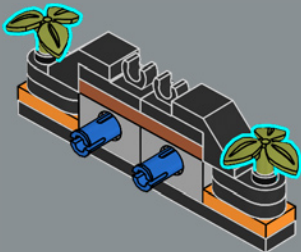

174

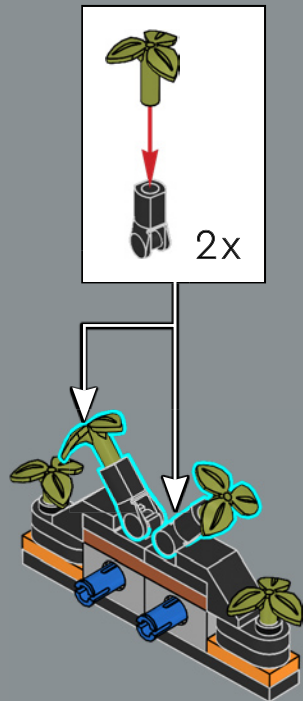

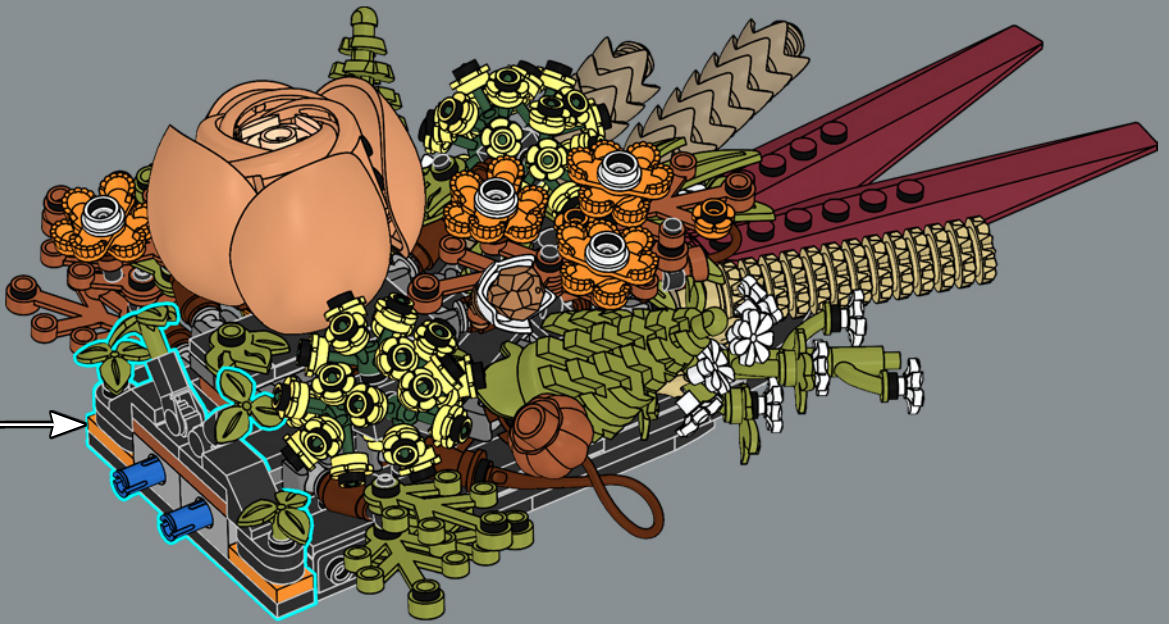

175

176

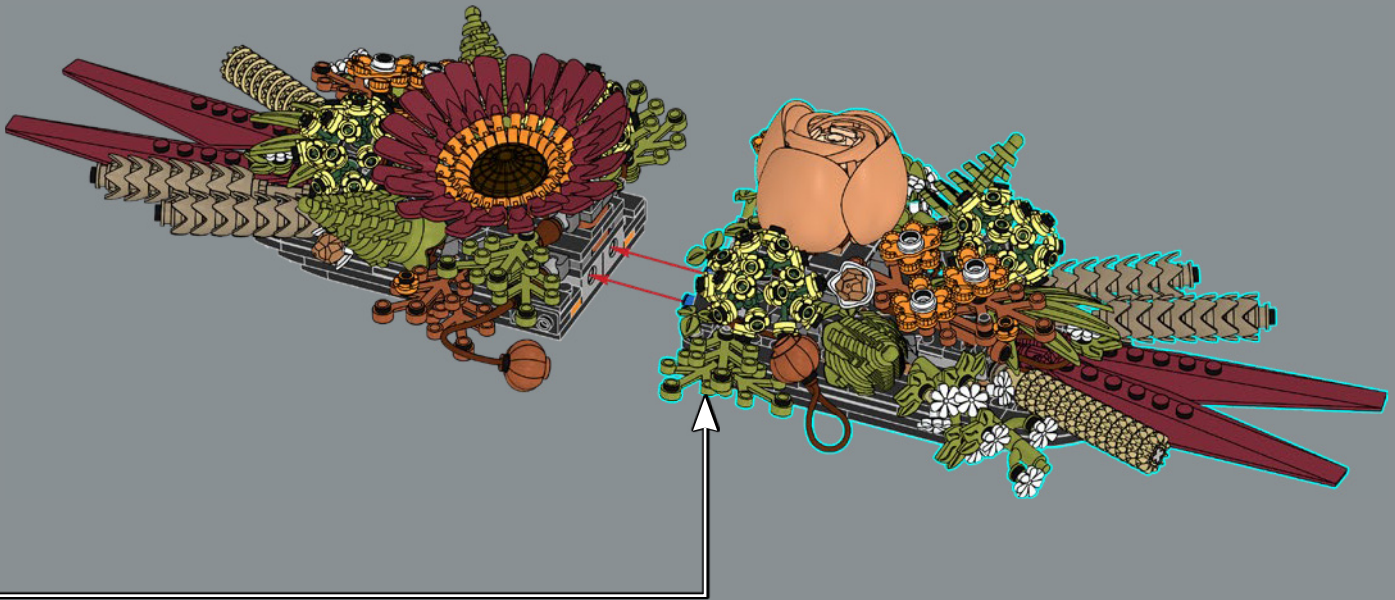

177

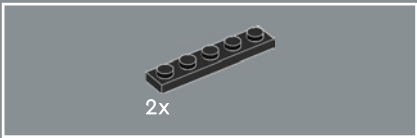

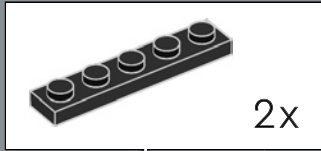

Dried flowers are sometimes preserved using a thin wax. The shiny elements in this set were chosen to replicate that wax look.

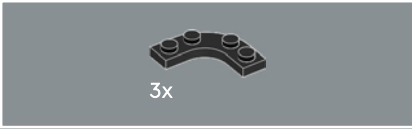

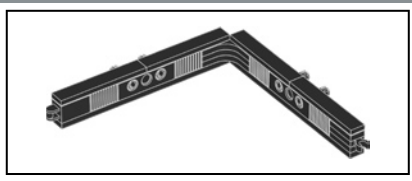

178

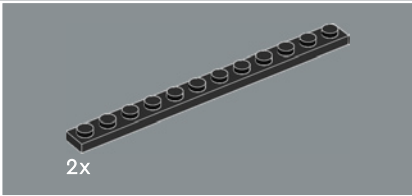

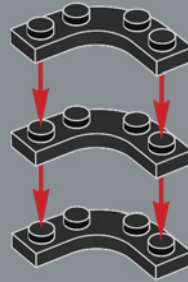

179

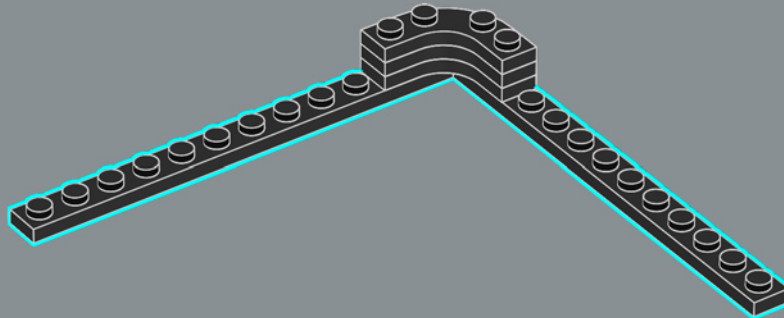

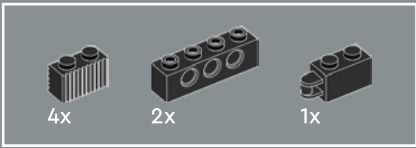

180

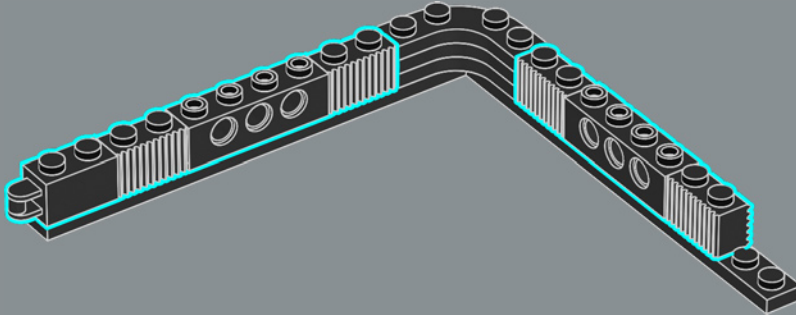

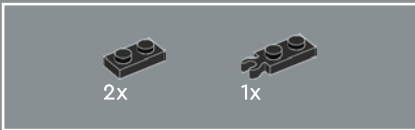

181

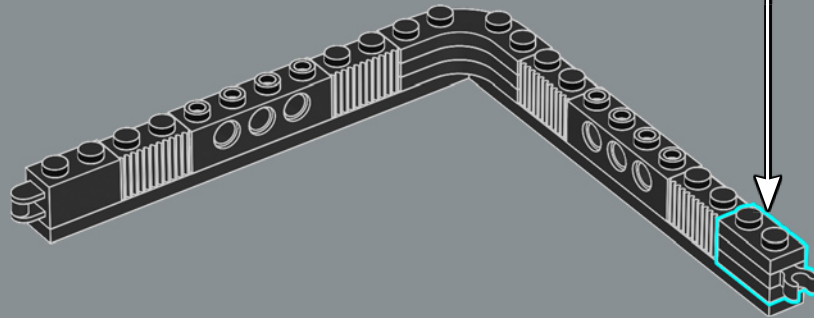

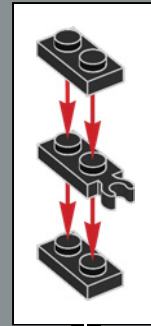

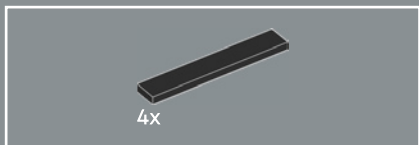

182

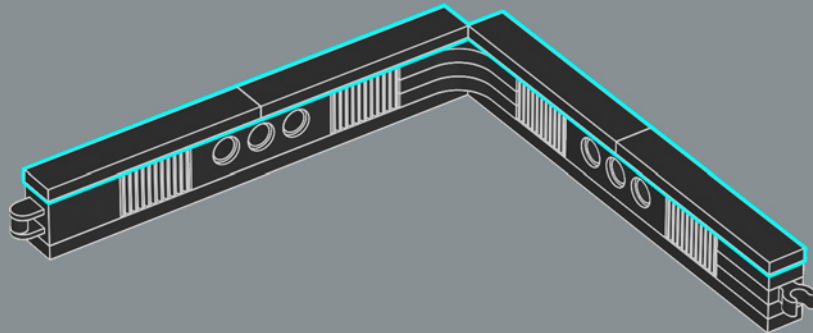

183

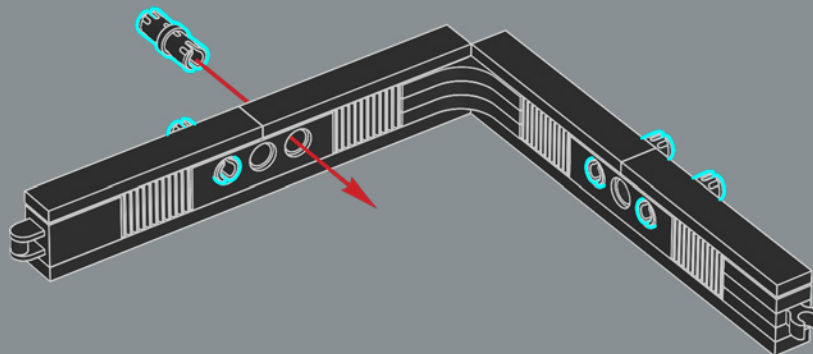

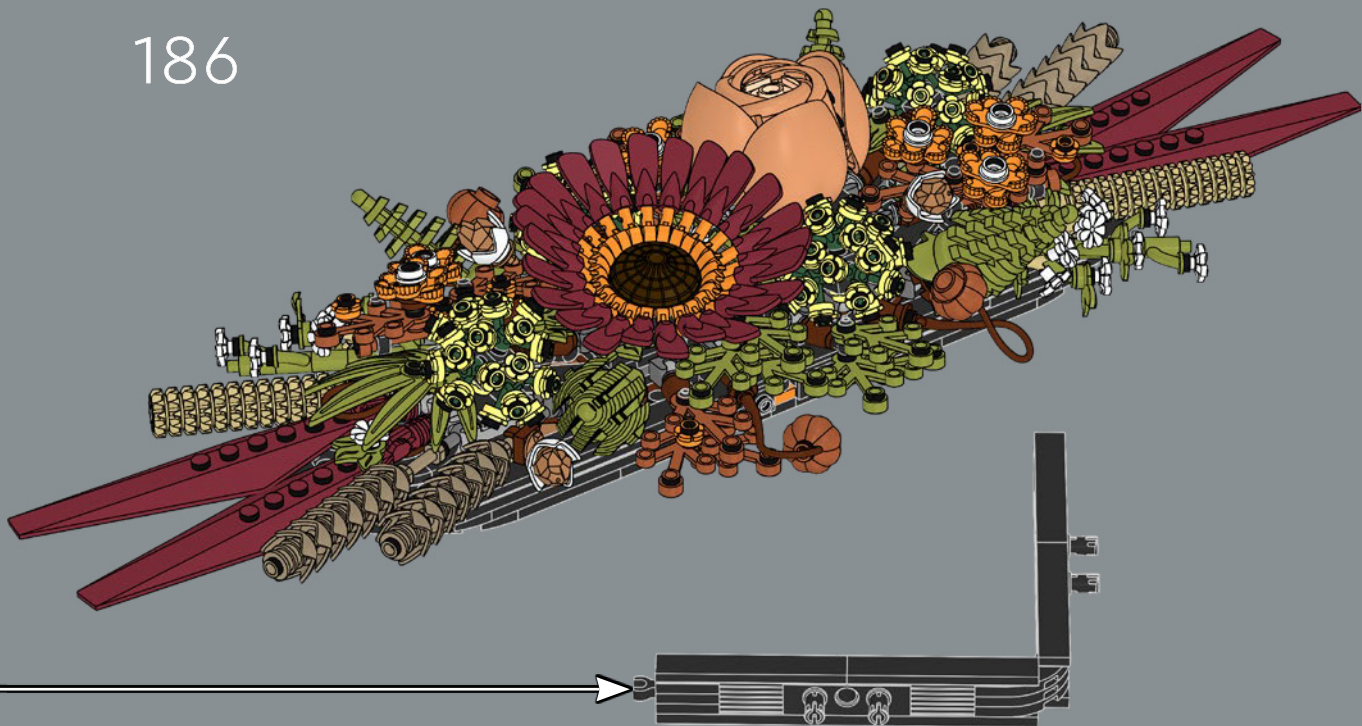

184

185

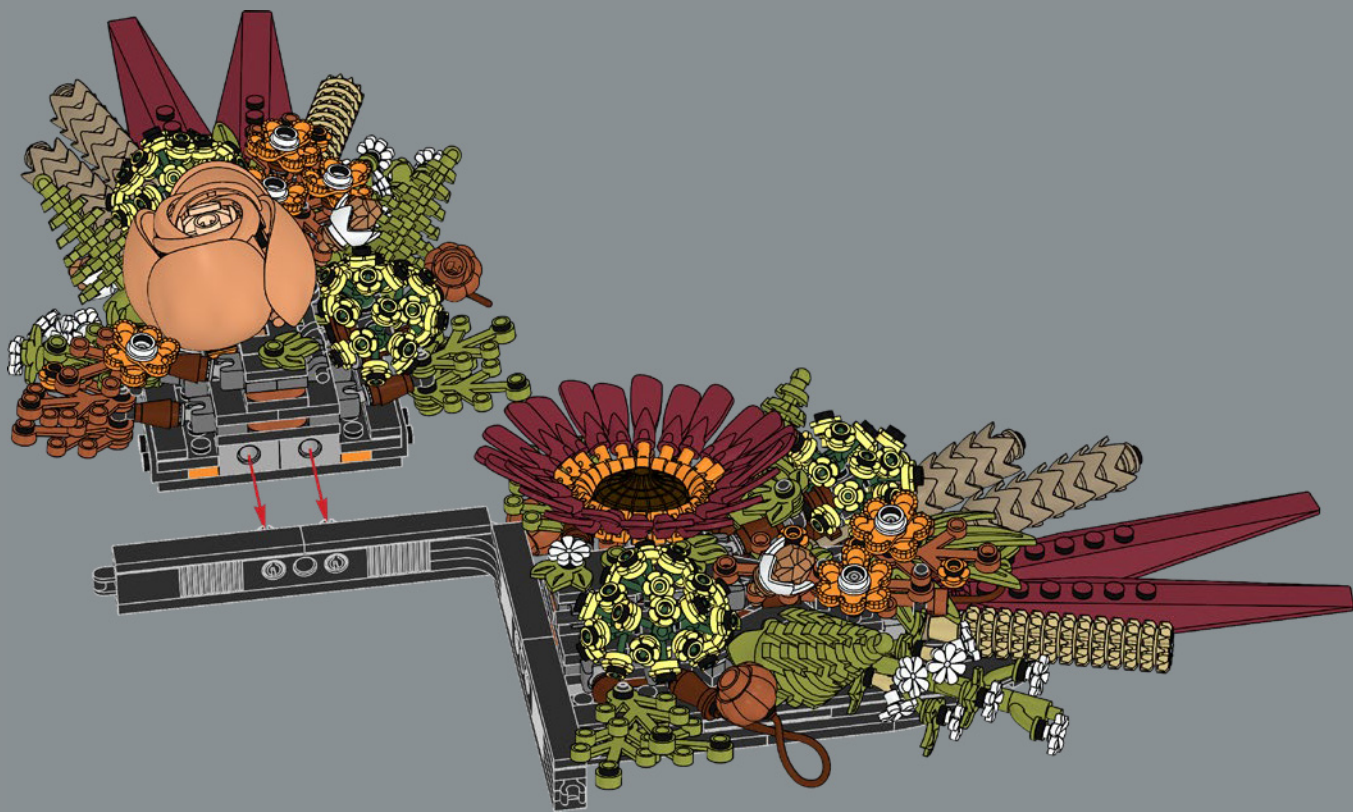

186

3 x 10314

